"ELECTRICAL SAFETY REGULATIONS.

"1. Guarding Live Parts.—All live parts of switches, fuses, circuit-breakers, control devices, relays, terminals, and other electrical equipment shall be adequately protected by metallic covers or cases, excepting that:—

"(a.) Covers constructed of insulating material may be allowed when equivalent protection is given.

"(b.) Live parts around switchboards, lightning-arresters, and other equipment for which the providing of covers or cases is not reasonably practicable shall be isolated by elevation or provided with suitable permanent enclosures, guards, or screens so arranged as to prevent persons or conducting objects from inadvertently coming or being brought in contact with the live parts. Around electrical machines and switchboards in power plants and sub-stations where accessible to properly qualified persons only, open live parts may under certain conditions be used without guards or screens.

"(c.) Open disconnecting knife-switches may be permitted, provided they are adequately isolated by elevation and operated only by approved insulating-rod with hook.

"2. Subject to the exceptions in the foregoing rule, all knife-switches in circuits of over 150 volts between conductors shall be enclosed in a standard approved steel box or cabinet or of iron-clad type, with switch-handle provided for external operation, and switch shall be operated by this handle only. This rule shall apply immediately to all switches as specified, with the exception that ordinary internally operated switch-boxes and open switches on switchboards and power-distributing panels which are otherwise in good condition may be permitted to remain in operation until such time as replacement by the externally operated type is ordered by the Board.

"3. All externally operated switches shall have the 'on' and 'off' positions distinctly marked.

"4. The doors of all switch-boxes shall be kept closed and only opened after switch-handle is thrown to the 'off' position, with the exception that they may be opened with switch 'on' by properly authorized persons for the purpose of making examination of fuses or switch and where the driven machinery cannot be shut down during such examination.

"5. When any switch is open to allow of repairs or inspection of the equipment supplied, it shall be locked, or as far as practicable secured in the 'off' position, and notice 'not to be closed' attached thereto.

"6. All switches on switchboards and all switch-boxes shall be provided with identification for the circuits or equipment which they control.

"7. Fuses.—All fuses shall be of the regular approved enclosed type only, and shall be of suitable capacity to protect their cables and equipment. All bridging of fuses by wire or other material will be a violation of this rule.

"8. All fuses, except those in two wire circuits operating at not more than 150 volts between conductors and carrying not more than thirty amperes, shall be made 'dead' before handling: Provided, however, that fuses shall always be made 'dead' before handling, regardless of voltage and current, in locations where a person may have to stand on grounded surfaces when re-fusing. This rule requires an individual switch ahead of every fusible cut-out as specified for the purpose of separately disconnecting the fuses of each circuit from all sources of supply. Motors operated by starting devices which do not require separate knife-switches ahead of them may have their running fuses made dead by branch feeder switch, provided same is within convenient access from these fuses.

"9. Combined fuses and switches installed after these rules go into effect shall be arranged with the switch ahead of the fuses. Switches fused at the top and installed previous to these rules going into effect shall be changed on special order of the Board.

"10. Wiring.—All wiring shall be installed and maintained in standard and approved manner. It shall be so protected as to reduce the life hazard as far as practicable; all necessary screens, guards, enclosures, conduits, or isolation by elevation being provided.

"11. Circuit-breakers.—Air-break circuit-breakers shall be so located and shielded that persons will not be burned by the arc produced or have their eyes injured by the glare of the arc.

"12. Parts such as handles or levers which may move suddenly in such a way that persons in the vicinity are liable to be injured by being struck by them shall be guarded.

"13. Electric Furnaces.—Electric furnaces and arc welders, where intensely glowing or incandescent arcing parts may be exposed, shall be enclosed so that those parts will not be accessible or visible to unauthorized persons. Suitable protecting screens, hoods, gloves, and other devices shall be provided for and used by the authorized operators or others who must work or come near such parts.

"14. Grounding.—All exposed non-current-carrying metallic parts of electrical equipment operating at over 150 volts to ground shall be permanently and effectively grounded. This includes covers, cases, conduits, handles, levers, and such metallic parts for starters, switches, circuit-breakers, fuses, etc., and frames of motors, generators, transformers, switchboards, etc. This rule shall also apply to electrical equipment operating at less than 150 volts to ground, unless such equipment is effectively insulated.

"15. All transformer secondaries shall be grounded, provided the maximum voltage between the grounded point and any other point on the circuit does not exceed 150 volts.

"16. Ground-wires shall be properly run, secured, protected, and maintained throughout their entire length, and shall be attached to water-pipe or other satisfactory ground by means of a regular ground-wire clamp or other method giving equivalent rigidity of connection.

"17. Insulating Platforms.—Insulating platforms or mats shall be placed in front of all switches, control devices, or other parts connected to circuits of over 150 volts to ground, and which may be handled when circuits are alive. Exceptions may be allowed by the Board at switchboards and panels in power-stations and sub-stations where the type of equipment and construction used gives sufficient protection to the live parts.

"18. Rotating Electrical Machinery.—All rotating parts of electrical machinery shall be so constructed, maintained, and guarded to reduce all hazard as far as practicable.

"19. Illumination.—Adequate and suitable illumination as is necessary to prevent accident shall be provided at all switchboards, fuse-boxes, starters, control devices, around electrical machines, and at other places where persons may come into proximity to live parts.

"20. General.—Whenever practicable, motor starters or controllers shall be so placed as to be within view from their respective motors.

"21. When painting, cleaning, repairs, or other work has to be carried out by non-electrical men around any buildings, bridge, or other structure, and in proximity to wires or parts of electrical equipment which are so normally isolated by elevation, such wires or parts shall be provided with guard or shall be made 'dead' while the work is being done.

"22. When linemen are at work on poles or other structures located where persons pass and may suffer injury from falling tools, material, etc., a temporary guard, fence, or notice shall be used to prevent or warn persons from passing beneath the linemen.

"23. 'Danger, High Voltage' notices shall be placed in prominent position and maintained in legible condition in proximity to all electrical equipment of 750 volts or over, and which may be accessible to unqualified persons.

"24. Installation, repairs, extension, and changes of electrical equipment shall be carried out by properly qualified persons only.

"25. All electrical equipment generally shall be so constructed, installed, and maintained as to reduce all hazard as far as practicable.

"26. All electrical equipment shall be so constructed, installed, and maintained as to make all operating rules herein specified readily and conveniently practicable.

"27. When new type of equipment or new arrangements and methods of operation are adopted which might justify departure from any of the foregoing rules, special permission regarding use of same shall first be obtained from the Board.

"The regulations, under the heading of 'Cranes' and 'Safety Standards for Cranes,' are hereby repealed, and the following are substituted therefor:—

"CRANES AND DERRICKS.

"9. Cages shall be kept free of clothing and other personal belongings. Tools, extra fuses, oil-cans, waste, and other articles necessary in the crane-cage shall be stored in a tool-box and not left loose in or about crane.

"10. An approved fire-extinguisher shall be carried in the crane-cage for use in case of fire.

"11. A footwalk with handrail and toe-board shall be placed along the entire length of the bridge on the motor side. This walk shall be at least five feet (5'), preferably six feet six inches (6' 6"), below the bottom of the overhead trusses, and shall be not less than eighteen inches (18") in width, except where it passes the bridge-motor, where it may be reduced to fifteen inches (15"). Footwalks shall be of substantial construction and rigidly braced.

"12. Truck-fenders shall be provided, and shall extend below the top of rail and project in front of all bridge and trolley truck-wheels and shall be attached to the trolley or the bridge and frame. They shall be of a shape and form that will tend to push and raise a man's hand, arm, or leg off the rail and away from the wheel.

"13. Cranes which are subjected to heat from below shall have a steel plate lined with asbestos and placed six inches (6") below bottom of cage.

"16. No person shall be allowed to ride on hook or load.

"17. When repairing cranes, it shall be located where the repair-work will least interfere with the other cranes and with operator on the floor.

"18. Before starting repairs, the repairman shall see that all controllers are thrown 'off' position, that main or emergency switches are open, and one of them shall be locked.

"19. Where a crane is to be repaired, there shall immediately be placed warning signs or out-of-order signs on crane and on floor beneath. If other cranes are operated on the same runway, safety-stops shall be placed at safe distance.

"20. Workmen shall not work on floor beneath crane while it is being repaired. Crane shall not be operated after repaired until all safety devices are installed and loose material removed.

"21. All electrically operated cranes shall be equipped with limit switches for the purpose of preventing overwinds.

"22. Where crane-cage is provided with electric heaters or electric lights, the wiring for same shall be run and secured in a regular manner and provided with a fuse and switch.

"23. All exposed metal parts on electrically operated cranes, and which do not carry current, including handles, conduits, covers, motor-frames, the entire frame of the crane and tracks shall be permanently and effectively grounded.

"2. Slings.—All sling-ropes to which blocks are attached shall be of strength equal to twice that of the hauling-line. If necessary, more than one turn of ropes smaller than hauling-line may be used.

When conditions require a multiplication of blocks, the number of turns of the sling-rope must be increased in proportion to the multiplication.

"3. In ground-yarding, employees shall not be required to work in the bight of the line unless there be sufficient stumps, trees, or other substantial barrier to afford them reliable protection.

"4. Pins and fastenings of high lead sheaves shall be of a strength commensurate with the maximum strains that may be imposed upon them by a strain on the hauling-line equal to its breaking-strength as rated by manufacturers. All pins must be securely fastened with a forelock.

Columbia Railway Act' shall be provided by the railway company with a copy of said rules, and a receipt for same taken and kept on file in the company's office.

"3. Locomotives having any defect considered dangerous shall be forthwith reported to Provincial Inspector of Railways, and shall not be operated without Inspector's order.

"4. Engineers operating locomotives on railways under the jurisdiction of the Department of Railways in the Province of British Columbia shall pass an examination pertaining to operation of a locomotive, and engineers shall furnish the Inspector with a certificate from competent medical doctor as to their visual acuity and hearing before receiving certificate, and at any other time the Inspector requires it.

"6. Engineers shall before starting to work with their locomotives see that they are in proper working order.

"7. Conductors shall personally inspect all cars, especially loads with logs, before being coupled to the engine, and shall satisfy themselves that all cars are properly and securely loaded and that the couplings and air-brakes are in good order, and if there is any doubt as to the safety of such loading or the efficiency of the brakes or couplings shall decline to move such loaded cars. In case any conductor shall while in transit consider any car unsafe, the train shall proceed slowly to nearest side-track, and the conductor shall set out the said car before proceeding with his train.

"5. In order to satisfy the Inspector as to the thickness of a place or the internal conditions of a boiler or pressure-vessel, the Inspector may, should he deem it necessary, order holes to be cut in it, and may also demand that such information, by drawing and specification of the several parts, be furnished him as will enable him to determine, by calculation and examination, their strength.

"6. Boilers of two (2) nominal horse-power or less shall be equipped with two (2) spring-loaded pop safety-valves of approved pattern of not less than one-half inch ($\frac{1}{2}$ ") diameter; one shall be of the lock-up type, correct steam-pressure gauge, water-gauges, test-cocks, and blow-off cocks. "8. Every boiler, except otherwise provided, must be fitted with a fusible plug; this plug to be placed where instructed by the Inspector. Fusible plugs are to be filled with banca tin, which must be renewed at least once a year.

"9. In order to prevent misunderstandings and possible reductions in working-pressure and alterations when the Inspector makes his first examination, designs may be submitted to the Chief Inspector for all boilers, stop-valves, main stop-valves, blow-off cocks, water-gauge fittings, and test-cocks to be used under the provisions of these regulations; and all designs for safety-valves must be submitted for approval.

"10. Boilers or vessels having any defect considered dangerous shall be forthwith reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board, and shall not be operated without Board or Inspector's orders.
